

Published on 12.03.06

---

Content Director and Mobile Director Also Announced

---

executives have joined Hearst Magazines Digital Media: Christopher Johnson as content director, and Sophia Stuart as mobile director. They also report to Cordray.

---

Stuart, who is responsible for building mobile content and services across Hearst's magazine brands, re-joins Hearst after leading digital media ventures for its U.K. operations between 1999 and late 2001. She has spent the past five years in California, directing a range of digital projects including online, 3D animation, motion capture and mobile applications for clients including New Line Cinema, 20th Century Fox and Neven Vision (now part of Google's mobile operations).